

Cooper Gains Acting Oscar

Hollywood, March 19 — (AP) — Gary Cooper won the Oscar tonight for the best 1952 performance by an actor in a starring role for his acting in "High Noon."

The academy statuette for the best performance by an actress in a starring role went to Shirley Booth for her portrayal in "Come Back, Little Sheba."

"The Greatest Show on Earth" received the award for the best movie produced, while "The Bad and the Beautiful" was awarded top screen play honors. John Ford received an Oscar for his direction of "The Quiet Man."